For those who want personal healing and growth, and for professionals who want a unique and powerful mind/body approach, this workshop will touch you deeply.

Embodied awareness is the answer to physical and emotional problems caused by stress, the path to emotional balance, and the way in to deep connection to self, to others and to something greater.

Discover how to engage the healer within through gentle touch, words that awaken, and attention to free breath.

You will learn the basic principles of this amazing bodywork through experiential exercises: discussion, dyads, demonstrations, practicum and movement.
